

Dual Cosmodynes Speak on Jennifer Aniston and Brad Pitt

Jennifer Aniston and Brad Pitt were (are??) Hollywood's glamour couple. Everyone thought they were the perfect pair. And yet today they are divorced. What went wrong?

This article explains the Jennifer Aniston - Brad Pitt relationship using the astrological technique called DUAL COSMODYNES, which measures the astrological power and harmony/discord between two people as a measure of their compatibility. The dual cosmodynes technique was invented by the author of this article, Allen Edwall. Mr. Edwall's astrology program Astro123 has been utilized to calculate the data, interpretations, and chartwheels necessary to help explain the Aniston-Pitt relationship. Astro123 is available for free download from Mr. Edwall's AstroWin website at www.astrowin.org (click on the link named "Free Astrology Programs").

The following birth data has been used for Jennifer and Brad:

Jennifer Aniston

11 Feb 1969 TZ = 8.0 (PST) 10.22 P.M. 34n09 118w 27

Brad Pitt

18 Dec 1963 TZ = 6.0 (CST) 6.31 A.M. 35n19 96w 55

Please see the various Appendixes for supplementary data (Appendix A – Appendix C), chartwheels (Appendix D), and interpretations (Appendix E and Appendix F).

For readers who may not be familiar with cosmodynes (also called astrodynes) or my dual cosmodyne technique, I direct them to my three previous articles which may be found at my website at <http://www.astrowin.org/cosmodyn.htm>. All three articles may be downloaded in one e-book using this link - <http://www.astrowin.org/anonymous/cosmodyn.zip>. Unzip this file and run cosmodynes.exe in order to view the e-book.

I will begin by stating that the most important number in dual cosmodyne calculations is the summary number for harmony/discord, which is found in the TOTALS row under the HARMONY heading. For Jennifer and Brad, their dual cosmodyne harmony is  $-16.22$  (see Appendix A in red). A positive number shows harmony, while a negative number shows inharmony or discord. As a matter of reference, the average value for dual cosmodyne harmony taken from a large sample of random strangers is about  $+10$ . So you can see from the above that Jennifer and Brad have much less harmony together than the average couple. This suggests that these two people have basic natures which are inharmonious with each other. You can try to mix oil and water together by shaking their combination, but the plain truth is oil and water do not mix. The same is true for people – some people just do not mix well with other people regardless of what Hollywood thinks and regardless of hormones or any other factor. Yes, there are a very few people who can rule their astrological stars, but they are few and far between.

Having seen the general overview, let's now look further into the details to try and discover more about Jennifer and Brad's relationship. Under the Mutual Receptions section in Appendix A, I do not see anything particularly noteworthy, one way or another. Under the Important Factors In Synastry section I notice that Jennifer's Venus and Brad's Mars have a fairly high harmony of  $-9.19$ . Of course, since this number is negative, it actually means that there is discord or inharmony between the planetary energies of Jennifer's Venus and Brad's Mars, which happen to be in square aspect to each other. What could this indicate besides general discord between them? Here is the synastry interpretation from my Astro123 program:

Venus square Mars

Mars's desire nature stimulates Venus's love nature. This is a strong aspect of physical attraction between the sexes. There is much appeal to the emotions. Mars sometimes tends to be possessive, jealous or impetuous in this association. Venus finds Mars too impatient.

Sometimes one of you will resist or repulse the other or perhaps this attraction is not felt by both of you. A little too much emotion in this combination can lead to friction and disputes. Jealousy will often raise its head. Unless many harmonious aspects balance this aspect, there will be considerable tension or conflict in love and marriage relationships.

In the above interpretation Brad is the MARS person and Jennifer is the VENUS person. If we replace the words Mars and Venus with Brad and Jennifer, then the above interpretation reads:

Venus square Mars

Brad's desire nature stimulates Jennifer's love nature. This is a strong aspect of physical attraction between the sexes. There is much appeal to the emotions. Brad sometimes tends to be possessive, jealous or impetuous in this association. Jennifer finds Brad too impatient. Sometimes one of the two of you will resist or repulse the other or perhaps this attraction is not felt by both of you. A little too much emotion in this combination can lead to friction and disputes. Jealousy will often raise its head. Unless many harmonious aspects balance this aspect, there will be considerable tension or conflict in love and marriage relationships.

This description is not quite like the description we have heard Hollywood propose concerning the perfect/ideal romantic couple, is it? An astrologer who uses and understands dual cosmodynes or even the standard astrological technique of synastry (synastry is comparing the planets in one person's chart with the planets in another person's chart) could have sensed that something wasn't quite right between Jennifer and Brad and could have advised accordingly.

Again under the Important Factors In Synastry section I notice that Jennifer's Moon and Brad's Sun have a fairly high harmony of 12.39. Since this number is positive, it indeed indicates a high degree of harmony between Jennifer's personality, sub-conscious habit patterns, emotional instincts, and feminine nature (Moon) and Brad's individuality, self-expression, will, and masculine nature (Sun). It also indicates a certain spiritual harmony between them as in synastry the Sun and Moon also represent the possible spiritual connection or compatibility between two people. Here is what Astro123 says regarding this placement (aspect) of planets in synastry (remember that Jennifer is the Moon person and Brad is the Sun person – as you read you may substitute their names for the planets mentioned below):

Sun conjunct Moon (Jennifer is Moon and Brad is Sun)

Creative and power urge blends with the domestic, submissive urge. The masculine and feminine instincts of both of you combine well. Here there is harmony of personality, interchange of sympathy, good mental affinity and mutual understanding. Your personality traits complement each other, yet are not identical. Each of you possesses something of the other's nature. Moon is intuitive and sensitive in reaction to Sun. Sun is protective toward Moon. This aspect is a powerful attraction between the sexes. This aspect indicates ability to achieve compatibility and harmony. When the woman's SUN conjuncts the man's MOON, she might try to lead or dominate him, which is not so wise, though if she is aware of this tendency she can overcome it. Perhaps the wife may become "too bossy", a complaint of many an unhappy husband.

So with regard to the two above-mentioned aspects (the first interaspect is distinctly inharmonious and the second interaspect is sometimes good and sometimes bad, usually both because a conjunction takes on the coloring from other planets who also aspect either synastry planet), we see that there is at least a powerful attraction between Jennifer and Brad. But attraction isn't the same thing as harmony, likeability, comfort, soul mate, compatibility, or anything else.

Let's continue. The rest of the aspects listed in the Important Factors In Synastry section are mainly positive. Notice that there is another Moon-Sun connection – this time it is Jennifer's Sun coupled with Brad's Moon (semi-sextile to be exact). So Jennifer and Brad form a "double-whammy", so to speak, in that each person's Sun is coupled with (aspected to) the other's Moon, and, in this case, both aspects are positive. This is certainly something to be noticed and not to be taken lightly. But remember, it is the sum of all the astrological influences, not just one or two, that really describe (make or break) the relationship. The Important Factors In Synastry aspects normally would be mainly positive or else Jennifer and Brad never would have thought enough about each other to think about staying together long enough to get married. Obviously, every couple has SOME harmony between them. And they always have ATTRACTION between them or else they would be like ships passing in the night. Yet whatever is there, is it enough? The overall harmony between Jennifer and Brad is -9.19 (discord actually, not harmony) so in the main, the answer is NO, there is not enough harmony between them to keep them married and/or living together.

Under the Planets Aspecting Each Other Within 1 Degree section, which shows the closest aspects between two people's planets – these are the nails that help hold the people together), I see that there are a reasonable number of “nails”, some harmonious and some discordant – about normal I would say. The Venus-Jupiter connection, actually a conjunction, suggests that Jennifer and Brad really do care about each other and feel that they are good and beneficial for and to each other. From Astro123:

Venus conjunct Jupiter (Jennifer is Venus and Brad is Jupiter)

This aspect denotes mutual helpfulness and mutual benefit. You enjoy the same pastimes and cultural things. This aspect stimulates optimism, self-confidence and good health in both of you. There is mutual consideration, sympathy and encouragement. It is conducive to development along artistic, ethical or spiritual lines in either of you or both. You are generous toward each other. Sometimes, though, this aspect stimulates an extravagant streak in one or both of you, or a tendency to wastefulness or overindulgence, or there may be too much emphasis on social form, appearances, clothes and material possessions.

This energy adds to the Sun-Venus energy (the aspect was not previously mentioned) found in the Important Factors In Synastry section (Sun-Venus harmonious energy indicates that there is indeed love on some level between the two people). But just because you love someone (love is certainly a term that has many meanings on many different levels) does not mean you can live with them and be happy and fulfilled doing so.

So what's left in our analysis?

I like to look at the bottom harmony table to see where the trouble spots actually lie. I've already mentioned the Venus-Mars affliction, but are there other difficult energies that need to be transmuted if the couple hopes to be successful as a couple? You find these trouble areas by looking for the biggest negative numbers in the HARMONY table at the bottom of Appendix A. Looking at the table we find the following discordant (negative numbers) configurations (energies):

Jennifer's Sun and Brad's Saturn (conjunct): -5.39
Jennifer's Mars and Brad's Saturn (square): -5.81
Jennifer's Saturn and Brad's Mercury (square): -7.47
Jennifer's Saturn and Brad's Venus (square): -7.07
Jennifer's Saturn and Brad's Moon (square): -12.48
Jennifer's Pluto and Brad's Sun (square): -10.67
Jennifer's Ascendant and Brad's Moon (square): -8.35
Jennifer's Ascendant and Brad's Venus (square): -6.76

That's a lot of Saturn influence. Saturn DOES bind people together, but that does not mean he does so harmoniously. Is it possible Jennifer (Saturn) “sat on Brad”, was always “raining on Brad's parades”, and otherwise being a wet-blanket or being so insecure that their relationship could not handle the stress? I read somewhere that Jennifer said she blamed her own upbringing for some of the problems in her marriage – see Jennifer's natal chart to find where her individual trouble spots are – Moon (mother) square Pluto, Sun (father) square Mars, Sun square Neptune, and Mars conjunct Neptune – use Astro123 to read the interpretations for any natal aspect.

The above listed discordant interaspects represent the trouble areas that Jennifer and Brad needed to address with the hope that they could use the positive energies between them to channel or transmute these negative energies into positive energies. Below are the Astro123 interpretations for each of the above interaspects. You may substitute Jennifer's or Brad's name into the interpretation wherever the planet name appears in regular case (not all UPPERCASE), of course remembering who is what planet.

Sun conjunct Saturn (Jennifer is Sun and Brad is Saturn)

Power urge and security urge combine. This aspect can be good or unfortunate, depending on whether the majority of interchart aspects are harmonious or frictional. Saturn slows down Sun, but this could be for Sun's own good. Saturn reminds Sun of duties and responsibilities and can be a bit critical. Sun does much to encourage and vitalize Saturn, alleviate worries, fears or other negative mental attitudes in Saturn. Sun often has to wait for Saturn who may be slow in some way (or seem so to Sun). Saturn depends on Sun for inspiration; sometimes throws responsibility on Sun or will try to blame Sun for troubles. Sun, Saturn can depress or discourage you, and may put a damper on your spirits and enthusiasms, but this might help you to be more practical and realistic. Sun will be tolerant and forgiving toward Saturn.

There is loyalty between the two of you if the comparison can be judged a good one. A SUN-SATURN bond is hard to break. Sun, Saturn needs you and will hold you. Saturn, you should try not to let Sun feel it is bondage. Saturn has a confining influence on Sun. Sun may learn needed lessons of discipline and patience through Saturn. In marriage a SUN-SATURN conjunction is occasionally found where there is a wide difference of ages, or where the wife is older than the husband. It is better with this aspect if the wife's SUN aspects the husband's SATURN. Saturn, you will probably benefit most from this relationship, as Sun will have to make most of the concessions and do most of the compromising to ensure harmony.

Saturn, you should guard against selfishness, criticism, coldness, unresponsiveness, putting too much emphasis on discipline and duty or depreciating the aims of Sun. Too much pessimism, Saturn, can wear down Sun's vitality and optimism. Sometimes Saturn will put too much blame on Sun for things that go wrong. Saturn may not be as sympathetic as can be, but is usually loyal and dependable. If there are many good aspects in the comparison, this aspect can prove a stabilizing influence, for Saturn's caution can restrain any reckless tendency in Sun. But in all cases, Saturn, you need to cultivate the "light touch" to make your practical and serious viewpoints acceptable to Sun.

Mars square Saturn (Jennifer is Mars and Brad is Saturn)

This is a serious aspect in a relationship. It can give violent quarrels and may even be harmful to Saturn. Saturn frustrates Mars, making Mars impatient, angry and resistant. Mars irritates and unsettles Saturn's constructive ideas and efforts and Saturn's security feelings. This aspect creates many problems of adjustment. Saturn will be critical of Mars's ambition and enterprise. At times, Saturn's caution, prudence and conservative instinct can prevent Mars from reckless ventures or losses, though Mars may not appreciate this until long afterward. In marriage it's better if the woman's SATURN aspects the man's MARS rather than vice versa. Much depends upon other aspects if this aspect can or cannot be resolved by the two of you. This aspect intensifies any friction or antagonism indicated by other frictional aspects.

Mercury square Saturn (Jennifer is Saturn and Brad is Mercury)

Saturn is very critical, exacting, disapproving and discouraging toward Mercury. Saturn is apt to judge harshly or to belittle the mental attainments and ideas of Mercury. Saturn can also bring Mercury worry or limitation of some nature. Saturn can detract from the self-confidence of Mercury and cause resentments to grow in Mercury's mind unless you, Mercury, can protect yourself spiritually. Cooperation is difficult where this aspect occurs unless there are many good aspects to offset this one. Mercury, many of your aims may meet with delay of realization due to the obstacles that Saturn may put in your path. Mercury will seem irritating and careless to Saturn at times. Saturn presents a challenge to Mercury which can help Mercury's growth.

Venus square Saturn (Jennifer is Saturn and Brad is Venus)

Venus, you are likely to have many unhappy experiences through this aspect. Saturn will prove to be demanding, restricting, selfish, condemning, resentful, critical, disapproving, jealous and may even dislike you. Venus, you might find it difficult to give affection to Saturn, or if you do, it would be mere show inspired by fear or anxiety. This is an unfavorable aspect. Venus, Saturn will bring sorrow, worry and responsibilities to you and you will probably try to escape in some way if possible. In love or marriage, Venus, you will usually be made unhappy and feel dominated or frustrated. Many economic problems also are likely to be encountered. Saturn tends to impose too much responsibility on Venus and often blames Venus for troubles encountered together. Some of Saturn's qualities or habits may disgust you, Venus, if you are very fastidious.

Moon square Saturn (Jennifer is Saturn and Brad is Moon)

This aspect tends to weaken sympathy between the two of you. Saturn disciplines Moon and the latter may resent it. Saturn can be unjust, critical, unkind, inconsiderate or selfish toward Moon. Saturn will oppose more readily than agree with Moon. Saturn arouses worry, discouragement or some other negative attitude in Moon which may become difficult for Moon to throw off. Saturn disregards the moods and feelings of Moon, who becomes more sensitive in reaction as time goes on unless an inner defense is built. Between members of a family or in marriage, Saturn may place too much responsibility on Moon, or blame Moon for troubles, or limit Moon in some way.

Saturn demands much attention from Moon and is hard to please. This will try the patience of Moon. Moon will have to learn patience and forbearance in this association. In marriage there may be domestic difficulties and financial disagreements, or troubles with other members of the family which threaten marital harmony.

The above is the description of MOON opposite SATURN. MOON square SATURN is similar to the above but more productive of conflict. Saturn discourages, limits, frustrates and delays Moon's efforts and progress, disregarding Moon's feelings. Saturn's duties and responsibilities will discourage or depress Moon. Unless there are many good aspects between your two charts to balance this aspect, you will not be of much benefit to each other. Saturn would derive the most benefit. This aspect is not good for marriage, especially if the man's SATURN aspects the wife's MOON. If the woman's SATURN aspects the man's MOON she will tend to nag and will be too critical, exaggerating trifles. This can be a source of misunderstanding and disagreement. Sometimes in-laws will prove a source of trouble between the two of you.

Sun square Pluto (Jennifer is Pluto and Brad is Sun)

Creative urge conflicts with reforming urge. Reactions are frictional if your association is a close one. Pluto resists Sun's authority and will be jealous, rebellious, demanding and even vindictive. Pluto resists correction from Sun, and will try to change Sun. In marriage, Pluto can undermine the confidence of Sun and could have an unfortunate influence on Sun's moral or ethical ideas. Even if your charts compare well, Pluto will try to change or reform Sun. Unless differences of temperament are understood well and adjusted, your reactions together in this aspect are to be judged unfavorable. In friendships, this aspect indicates occasional tests of tolerance and loyalty.

Moon square Ascendant (Jennifer is Ascendant and Brad is Moon)

Moon's family upbringing and emotional habit patterns conflict with Ascendant's manner of self-expression, self-image and the concept of cooperation in partnerships. Ascendant, in turn, can emotionally upset and disorient Moon. There can be disagreement about how to conduct family, domestic and business affairs.

Venus square Ascendant (Jennifer is Ascendant and Brad is Venus)

This aspect is not favorable for marital and romantic relationships. The personal habits and social mannerisms of Ascendant are likely to be unattractive to the social sensibilities of Venus. Venus may seem like a "prima donna" to Ascendant. You may not share aesthetic, business and social values. Impulsive, emotional behavior on your part or on both your parts may cause problems in the relationship.

HUMAN RELATIONS

The ability to get along harmoniously with our fellow men and women is an asset impossible to overestimate. The success and happiness of every individual rest upon it. There is scarcely any activity or situation in life that does not involve contact with other human beings. The more easily a person adjusts himself to family, community, and the associations he forms in earning his livelihood, the smoother will be his path in life. Nearly all the tension and strain of modern living is brought about, not by difficult conditions, but by disturbing emotions aroused in personal, group, or public contacts.

A prime requisite for getting along with others is self-understanding and self-control. If you understand yourself, you will find it easier to understand others. Self-control enables you to handle your contacts more positively.

Astrology emphasizes SELF-UNDERSTANDING because you must first know where your own faults lie in adjusting yourself to others. In a horoscope we read individual personality through the sign ascending at the hour of birth - the rising sign; therefore the opposite point (the 7th house) is one's projected attitude toward others, or what we may call the general public. Every square or opposition aspect in our horoscope can be viewed as a personality trait which tests our ability to get along harmoniously with others. The testing may not come out as an open conflict, and the more emotionally mature the individual is, the less apt it is to do so. In this case it remains a psychological factor, part of the character or spiritual growth. Such a tension or problem of adjustment may present itself in family relationships or marriage, or in business or friendships. The planets symbolize one's instincts and urges, and if there is an inner conflict, as indicated by a square or opposition aspect in the individual horoscope, and by some of the conjunctions (principally those in which one of the malefics is involved - Mars, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, or Pluto), this inner conflict will express itself in many, though probably not all, of his human contacts.

Bear in mind that in comparing horoscopes you are analyzing the effect of one individual upon another. The purpose of comparing horoscopes is to explore the possibilities and problems of an association; to understand why another person affects you as he does and how you are apt to affect him.

It is a law of attraction that our attracting or being attracted to certain persons or environments is rarely, if ever, pure chance. When the association or environment is testing or unpleasant, the experience has been attracted because of a conflict of personality in the individual nature that needs to be resolved. We must come to terms with our own conflicting urges. Sometimes the test may be up to our discrimination in accepting or refusing a situation or an association. Some individuals may need to develop the courage and willpower to say "NO" to an association that could be harmful to them.

Regarding romance and marriage, it is very important to distinguish the difference between personality and character. Romance may begin with an attraction of personalities, but it is CHARACTER that decides the success of a marriage. Astrology is the best way to diagnose the character of a person or the characteristics of a relationship. Yet remember, the horoscope shows tendencies only. It is a matter for you to determine how any position will work itself out. That will be determined by the use you make of your own WILLPOWER.

ATTRACTION AND ENDURABILITY

According to the dictionary, to attract is to "draw by some winning influence: charm, allure, to entice, to win." We can insert parenthetically that some people are more attractive to the opposite sex than others, and so attract more opportunities for romance and marriage. If you are attracted to another person, you are interested, curious, have a friendly feeling, and are disposed to look with favor upon that person. You'll pursue and encourage the acquaintanceship. An attraction felt between members of the same sex creates friendship. When two people of the opposite sex are strongly attracted and feel the pull of animal magnetism, or what we can term the polarity of opposites, we have the basis for romance.

Sometimes such an attraction is superficial and temporary. Many a person has felt attracted to another person of the opposite sex for a brief period and afterward wondered exactly what he or she had seen in that person. Sometimes an attraction is one-sided. Many people mistake pity for love, or are misled by flattery and attention. Sometimes an attraction springs from sheer loneliness. If real love is to develop, the attraction should be more than a superficial one. In comparing horoscopes we analyze various factors, and the greater the number of aspects of attraction, the stronger will be the attraction.

Most IMPORTANT in judging attraction are the aspects between the Ascendant or Descendant of one chart and the planets of the other chart, and vice versa. Unless the Ascendant or Descendant of one horoscope combine with the planets of the other by sign and/or aspect it is doubtful that, whatever the attraction, that it would result in marriage. It is the Ascendant, symbolizing the personality of the individual, that determines the real power or magnetism of the attraction. The Ascendant of one chart in aspect to planets of the other chart CONFIRMS and SUPPORTS any congeniality and compatibility as read in the aspects formed between planets in the respective horoscopes.

Couples who get along well usually agree in viewpoint. Temperaments may differ, but they should be congenial. That is, they should blend or balance each other, not clash. This is known as polarity. In astrology temperament is described by the elements: that is, fire, earth, air, and water. It is important that the Ascendants of the two people be compatible, since the Ascendant represents basic disposition and temperament. Fire combines easily with fire or air. Earth combines easily with earth or water. Any other combination will probably denote friction due to "rubbing each other the wrong way." Perhaps a simple example will better aid in understanding. Imagine fire and water combining. They do not combine easily because their natures are different. Either fire boils water and produces steam or water drenches fire and extinguishes it. The same thing can happen when a fire person combines with a water person. There is an analogous effect between people for the other combinations of the elements.

MEANINGS OF ASPECTS TO THE ASCENDANTS

JENNIFER ANISTON is ASCENDANT and BRAD PITT is SUN -
Sun sextile Ascendant - This aspect indicates that you both are able to direct your wills effectively in working together. You can combine your creative self-expression to achieve mutual goals and you will help each other develop more confidence and better self-images. This aspect can indicate romantic and sexual attraction. It is favorable for harmony in a marriage.

JENNIFER ANISTON is ASCENDANT and BRAD PITT is VENUS -
Venus square Ascendant - This aspect is not favorable for marital and romantic relationships. The personal habits and social mannerisms of Jennifer are likely to be unattractive to the social sensibilities of Brad. Brad may seem like a "prima donna" to Jennifer. You may not share aesthetic, business and social values. Impulsive, emotional behavior on your part or on both your parts may cause problems in the relationship.

JENNIFER ANISTON is ASCENDANT and BRAD PITT is SATURN -
Saturn trine Ascendant - This aspect indicates mutual concern and serious cooperation in marital, legal, professional, business and organizational affairs. You will implement these affairs very effectively through mutual discussion and planning of your responsibilities and activities. Jennifer will be able to provide considerable energetic support for the serious goals that Brad has. Brad can, in turn, help Jennifer build greater self-confidence, organization, maturity and poise. The acceptance of mutual responsibility inherent in this aspect favors enduring marriages and business and professional partnerships.

JENNIFER ANISTON is ASCENDANT and BRAD PITT is MOON -
Moon square Ascendant - Brad's family upbringing and emotional habit patterns conflict with Jennifer's manner of self-expression, self-image and the concept of cooperation in partnerships. Jennifer, in turn, can emotionally upset and disorient Brad. There can be disagreement about how to conduct family, domestic and business affairs.

JENNIFER ANISTON is VENUS and BRAD PITT is ASCENDANT -
Venus trine Ascendant - Indicating mutual harmony and friendship and general emotional and social compatibility, this aspect is favorable for marriages, romantic relationships and business partnerships. There is sexual attraction if this combination is combined with other comparative influences of a similar nature. You can help each other in the diplomatic, public relations aspects of social and business affairs.

JENNIFER's ASCENDANT and BRAD's ASCENDANT are in compatible signs.

MEANINGS OF INTERPLANETARY ASPECTS

Sun sextile Sun - Creative and power urges harmonize easily. Temperaments adjust readily. There is mutual sympathy and understanding of ideals and aims. This aspect is favorable for any and all relationships, provided the comparisons show no great number of conflicts. This position is usually good for marriage.

JENNIFER ANISTON is SUN and BRAD PITT is SATURN -
Sun conjunct Saturn - Power urge and security urge combine. This aspect can be good or unfortunate, depending on whether the majority of interchart aspects are harmonious or frictional. Brad slows down Jennifer, but this could be for Jennifer's own good. Brad reminds Jennifer of duties and responsibilities and can be a bit critical. Jennifer does much to encourage and vitalize Brad, alleviate worries, fears or other negative mental attitudes in Brad. Jennifer often has to wait for Brad who may be slow in some way (or seem so to Jennifer). Brad depends on Jennifer for inspiration; sometimes throws responsibility on Jennifer or will try to blame Jennifer for troubles. Jennifer, Brad can depress or discourage you, and may put a damper on your spirits and enthusiasms, but this might help you to be more practical and realistic. Jennifer will be tolerant and forgiving toward Brad.

There is loyalty between the two of you if the comparison can be judged a good one. A SUN-SATURN bond is hard to break. Jennifer, Brad needs you and will hold you. Brad, you should try not to let Jennifer feel it is bondage. Brad has a confining influence on Jennifer. Jennifer may learn needed lessons of discipline and patience through Brad. In marriage a SUN-SATURN conjunction is occasionally found where there is a wide difference of ages, or where the wife is older than the husband. It is better with this aspect if the wife's SUN aspects the husband's SATURN. Brad, you will probably benefit most from this relationship, as Jennifer will have to make most of the concessions and do most of the compromising to ensure harmony.

Brad, you should guard against selfishness, criticism, coldness, unresponsiveness, putting too much emphasis on discipline and duty or depreciating the aims of Jennifer. Too much pessimism, Brad, can wear down Jennifer's vitality and optimism. Sometimes Brad will put too much blame on Jennifer for things that go wrong. Brad may not be as sympathetic as can be, but is usually loyal and dependable. If there are many good aspects in the comparison, this aspect can prove a stabilizing influence, for Brad's caution can restrain any reckless tendency in Jennifer. But in all cases, Brad, you need to cultivate the "light touch" to make your practical and serious viewpoints acceptable to Jennifer.

JENNIFER ANISTON is SUN and BRAD PITT is NEPTUNE -
Sun square Neptune - Power urge clashes with escape or spiritual urge. Brad will exhibit elusive, evasive, deceptive qualities in reaction toward Jennifer. Sun is baffled by Brad. There is a lack of trust between the two of you. Brad can be misleading, appearing submissive, but subtly eluding the influence of Jennifer. The problems or situations provoked by this discordant aspect are never quite as bad as they appear, nor as good as envisioned. This aspect is difficult in marriage as it breeds misunderstanding, doubt, confusion, deception and distrust in one or both of you.

JENNIFER's SUN and BRAD's MOON are in incompatible signs.

JENNIFER ANISTON is MOON and BRAD PITT is SUN -
Sun conjunct Moon - Creative and power urge blends with the domestic, submissive urge. The masculine and feminine instincts of both of you combine well. Here there is harmony of personality, interchange of sympathy, good mental affinity and mutual understanding. Your personality traits complement each other, yet are not identical. Each of you possesses something of the other's nature. Jennifer is intuitive and sensitive in reaction to Brad. Brad is protective toward Jennifer. This aspect is a powerful attraction between the sexes. This aspect indicates ability to achieve compatibility and harmony. When the woman's SUN conjuncts the man's MOON, she might try to lead or dominate him, which is not so wise, though if she is aware of this tendency she can overcome it. Perhaps the wife may become "too bossy", a complaint of many an unhappy husband.

JENNIFER ANISTON is MOON and BRAD PITT is SATURN -
Moon sextile Saturn - Brad steadies Jennifer and Jennifer enlarges the ideas of Brad. The emotions of Jennifer are stabilized by Brad. Brad will be dependable and steadfast toward Jennifer. Brad can counsel Jennifer, for there is usually mutual respect. This aspect encourages friendly contacts between persons of wide difference of age. Brad brings out the conservative qualities in Jennifer. In marriage this aspect furthers domestic tranquility, order in the home and agreement in regard to management of money.

JENNIFER's MOON and BRAD's MOON are in incompatible signs.

JENNIFER's MERCURY and BRAD's MERCURY are in incompatible signs.

JENNIFER ANISTON is MERCURY and BRAD PITT is MOON -
Moon conjunct Mercury - Feeling and mental perceptions combine with intelligence. This aspect indicates a quick perception of each other's ideas and views. There is a mental affinity and appreciation of each other's mental qualities. This aspect facilitates conversational interchange and good understanding between the two of you. This aspect can promote each other's mental development. Many mutual interests will be encouraged. There is often telepathic thought projection.

JENNIFER's VENUS and BRAD's VENUS are in incompatible signs.

JENNIFER ANISTON is VENUS and BRAD PITT is MARS -
Venus square Mars - Brad's desire nature stimulates Jennifer's love nature. This is a strong aspect of physical attraction between the sexes. There is much appeal to the emotions. Brad sometimes tends to be possessive, jealous or impetuous in this association. Jennifer finds Brad too impatient. Sometimes one of you will resist or repulse the other or perhaps this attraction is not felt by both of you. A little too much emotion in this combination can lead to friction and disputes. Jealousy will often raise its head. Unless many harmonious aspects balance this aspect, there will be considerable tension or conflict in love and marriage relationships.

JENNIFER ANISTON is VENUS and BRAD PITT is JUPITER -
Venus conjunct Jupiter - This aspect denotes mutual helpfulness and mutual benefit. You enjoy the same pastimes and cultural things. This aspect stimulates optimism, self-confidence and good health in both of you. There is mutual consideration, sympathy and encouragement. It is conducive to development along artistic, ethical or spiritual lines in either of you or both. You are generous toward each other. Sometimes, though, this aspect stimulates an extravagant streak in one or both of you, or a tendency to wastefulness or overindulgence, or there may be too much emphasis on social form, appearances, clothes and material possessions.

JENNIFER ANISTON is MARS and BRAD PITT is VENUS -
Venus sextile Mars - The desire nature of Jennifer stimulates the love nature of Brad. This aspect indicates a stimulating and congenial attraction. This is a strong aspect of attraction between the sexes. There is much appeal to the emotions. Brad has a soothing effect on Jennifer. This is a very good aspect to find in love and marriage.

JENNIFER's MARS and BRAD's MARS are in compatible signs.

JENNIFER ANISTON is MARS and BRAD PITT is SATURN -
Mars square Saturn - This is a serious aspect in a relationship. It can give violent quarrels and may even be harmful to Brad. Brad frustrates Jennifer, making Jennifer impatient, angry and resistant. Jennifer irritates and unsettles Brad's constructive ideas and efforts and Brad's security feelings. This aspect creates many problems of adjustment. Brad will be critical of Jennifer's ambition and enterprise. At times, Brad's caution, prudence and conservative instinct can prevent Jennifer from reckless ventures or losses, though Jennifer may not appreciate this until long afterward. In marriage it's better if the woman's SATURN aspects the man's MARS rather than vice versa. Much depends upon other aspects if this aspect can or cannot be resolved by the two of you. This aspect intensifies any friction or antagonism indicated by other frictional aspects.

JENNIFER ANISTON is MARS and BRAD PITT is MOON -
Moon sextile Mars - Jennifer stimulates the imagination, ideas and self-confidence of Brad. In home and family environment, this aspect aids cooperation and efficiency in getting things done together. In marriage the aspect of the husband's MARS to the wife's MOON encourages reproduction.

JENNIFER ANISTON is JUPITER and BRAD PITT is MARS -
Mars square Jupiter - This aspect creates discord rather than harmony. Your respective ambitions conflict. There is apt to be rivalry between you, or one person will drive the other against his or her best judgment. There are differences of opinion on ethical, religious or moral points. There is a tendency to be impatient and to demand too much of each other. Sometimes one promises more than he or she can deliver or fulfill. This aspect may encourage foolhardy risks and is a detriment from an economic standpoint in marriage or in business relationships. This aspect must be stabilized by many good ones if the association is to benefit both people. You must respect each other's judgment and strive for careful planning and administration of your affairs or the association will prove unfortunate for economic security. This aspect tends to bring out any traits of extravagance, wastefulness or foolhardiness in the nature of either or both parties.

Jupiter opposite Jupiter - There may be differences in aspirations, religious ideas, ideals, moral sentiments, ethics and fundamental spiritual leanings in the two of you. Ideas of fair play and justice may differ. Differences in conception of ethical procedures in business or other affairs, too, can create problems of adjustment. As a rule, this aspect is not harmfully adverse unless the comparison chart is extremely discordant. In this case, it merely adds emphasis to the other conflicts.

JENNIFER ANISTON is SATURN and BRAD PITT is SUN -
Sun trine Saturn - Power urge harmonizes with the security urge. This aspect denotes a good balancing of the confidence, enthusiasm, ambition and the organizing ability and persistence needed to carry out any mutual purposes. It ensures agreement in handling of problems, allocation of duties, authority and responsibility. Jennifer links stability and loyalty to Brad. Any limiting or restraining influence that Jennifer might hold on Brad works mainly for the ultimate good of both. Brad encourages and stimulates confidence in Jennifer. In marriage this aspect aids durability.

JENNIFER ANISTON is SATURN and BRAD PITT is MERCURY -
Mercury square Saturn - Jennifer is very critical, exacting, disapproving and discouraging toward Brad. Jennifer is apt to judge harshly or to belittle the mental attainments and ideas of Brad. Jennifer can also bring Brad worry or limitation of some nature. Jennifer can detract from the self-confidence of Brad and cause resentments to grow in Brad's mind unless you, Brad, can protect yourself spiritually. Cooperation is difficult where this aspect occurs unless there are many good aspects to offset this one. Brad, many of your aims may meet with delay of realization due to the obstacles that Jennifer may put in your path. Brad will seem irritating and careless to Jennifer at times. Jennifer presents a challenge to Brad which can help Brad's growth.

JENNIFER ANISTON is SATURN and BRAD PITT is VENUS - Venus square Saturn - Brad, you are likely to have many unhappy experiences through this aspect. Jennifer will prove to be demanding, restricting, selfish, condemning, resentful, critical, disapproving, jealous and may even dislike you. Brad, you might find it difficult to give affection to Jennifer, or if you do, it would be mere show inspired by fear or anxiety. This is an unfavorable aspect. Brad, Jennifer will bring sorrow, worry and responsibilities to you and you will probably try to escape in some way if possible. In love or marriage, Brad, you will usually be made unhappy and feel dominated or frustrated. Many economic problems also are likely to be encountered. Jennifer tends to impose too much responsibility on Brad and often blames Brad for troubles encountered together. Some of Jennifer's qualities or habits may disgust you, Brad, if you are very fastidious.

Saturn sextile Saturn - The two of you can cooperate in anything involving work or responsibility or where problems of security are being worked out. This can be a very good aspect in marriage, business or any type of partnership. A similar attitude toward responsibility helps you to agree and cooperate in meeting obligations. Usually you have common goals.

JENNIFER ANISTON is SATURN and BRAD PITT is MOON - Moon square Saturn - This aspect tends to weaken sympathy between the two of you. Jennifer disciplines Brad and the latter may resent it. Jennifer can be unjust, critical, unkind, inconsiderate or selfish toward Brad. Jennifer will oppose more readily than agree with Brad. Jennifer arouses worry, discouragement or some other negative attitude in Brad which may become difficult for Brad to throw off. Jennifer disregards the moods and feelings of Brad, who becomes more sensitive in reaction as time goes on unless an inner defense is built. Between members of a family or in marriage, Jennifer may place too much responsibility on Brad, or blame Brad for troubles, or limit Brad in some way.

Jennifer demands much attention from Brad and is hard to please. This will try the patience of Brad. Brad will have to learn patience and forbearance in this association. In marriage there may be domestic difficulties and financial disagreements, or troubles with other members of the family which threaten marital harmony.

The above is the description of MOON opposite SATURN. MOON square SATURN is similar to the above but more productive of conflict. Jennifer discourages, limits, frustrates and delays Brad's efforts and progress, disregarding Brad's feelings. Jennifer's duties and responsibilities will discourage or depress Brad. Unless there are many good aspects between your two charts to balance this aspect, you will not be of much benefit to each other. Jennifer would derive the most benefit. This aspect is not good for marriage, especially if the man's SATURN aspects the wife's MOON. If the woman's SATURN aspects the man's MOON she will tend to nag and will be too critical, exaggerating trifles. This can be a source of misunderstanding and disagreement. Sometimes in-laws will prove a source of trouble between the two of you.

JENNIFER ANISTON is URANUS and BRAD PITT is SUN - Sun square Uranus - Creative or power urge conflicts with freedom urge.

There is a conflict of individualities in this combination. Jennifer's unpredictability keeps Brad "up in the air". Jennifer will resent the influence of Brad and rebel against any authority Brad shows. Cooperation seldom is achieved when this aspect occurs between two charts. This aspect often causes separations or a spasmodic association. Unless you both are poised and self-disciplined, a close association is not likely to be satisfying to either of you. There may be violent reactions. Jennifer resists Brad and both of you are impatient and rebellious toward each other.

JENNIFER ANISTON is NEPTUNE and BRAD PITT is VENUS -
Venus sextile Neptune - There is mutual sympathy, generosity, kindness, consideration and a quiet affection and devotion. Many mutual interests are stimulated, especially along lines of art, music, dance, drama, poetry and photography. Occult interests, or a love of nature, also would be brought out if latent within each of you. In fact, they may be the cause of the attraction.

JENNIFER ANISTON is NEPTUNE and BRAD PITT is MOON -
Moon sextile Neptune - This aspect indicates a psychic tie. You are unusually sensitive to each other's moods and feelings. There is often a telepathic communication between you. There is much sympathy between you. Jennifer may seem a bit aloof to Brad at times. This aspect can indicate much mutual inspiration, and in high-type individuals, spiritual accord and mutual devotion. There is much consolation and comfort. Any interest in mysticism or occult study in either of you will be brought out and increased by this aspect.

JENNIFER ANISTON is PLUTO and BRAD PITT is SUN -
Sun square Pluto - Creative urge conflicts with reforming urge. Reactions are frictional if your association is a close one. Jennifer resists Brad's authority and will be jealous, rebellious, demanding and even vindictive. Jennifer resists correction from Brad, and will try to change Brad. In marriage, Jennifer can undermine the confidence of Brad and could have an unfortunate influence on Brad's moral or ethical ideas. Even if your charts compare well, Jennifer will try to change or reform Brad. Unless differences of temperament are understood well and adjusted, your reactions together in this aspect are to be judged unfavorable. In friendships, this aspect indicates occasional tests of tolerance and loyalty.

JENNIFER ANISTON is PLUTO and BRAD PITT is VENUS -
Venus trine Pluto - Mutual benefits can be realized through the association in an economic or social way. Reconstruction of values may be brought about by this association.

JENNIFER ANISTON is PLUTO and BRAD PITT is MOON -
Moon trine Pluto - There is some mutual benefit, but this aspect is not a very strong one. It can be good in business, political or profession association. It can be especially good if the two of you are engaged in any form of research work or group activities.

The astrological interpretations in this report have been formulated with the assumption that both peoples' birth dates, times, and places are accurately given and have been accurately entered into the program. This includes whether the birth time was daylight savings time or standard time. Even a difference of one hour in birth time can invalidate much of the interpretation given in this report. If inaccurate birth data is used, then the interpretations in this report will probably not apply, according to the ancient axiom, "garbage in, garbage out."

By no means is this astrological analysis of your relationship complete. Obviously, your relationship is far more complex than what a few pages of writing can depict. Hopefully, this short description of your relationship and its inner character will lead you on your way to really discovering what your relationship is and what it can become.

Appendix F

Complete composite report for Jennifer Aniston and Brad Pitt (I'm not convinced that a composite astrological chart really describes a relationship, but the below is included for your research and consideration):

JENNIFER ANISTON

11 FEB 1969      TZ = 8.0      10.22 P.M.      34.09 NORTH      118.27 WEST

BRAD PITT

18 DEC 1963      TZ = 6.0      6.31 A.M.      35.19 NORTH      96.55 WEST

INTRODUCTION

The composite horoscope is created by finding the midpoint between pairs of planets and other sensitive points of two natal horoscopes, that is, the Sun of one and the Sun of the other, the Moon of one and the Moon of the other, and so forth. The composite Sun is the midpoint of the two Suns, and so on for all the other planets and points.

A midpoint is a point in the zodiac equidistant from the other two points. It is believed that the midpoint combines the qualities of the two planets from which it is derived.

According to John Townley, "The most sophisticated synastry (chart comparison) DOES give the range of potentials in a relationship between two people, but the composite chart paints a clearer picture of the actual relationship."

Astrology can tell you about your relationships because astrology is the study of the effects of planetary forces upon man. It is not fortune telling. It is one of the best methods for man to learn about who he is, where he came from, and where he is going. Astrology reveals CHARACTER and character is destiny. If man can change his character, then man will have changed his destiny.

Astrology does not show anything but tendencies. People can rule their stars by exerting their will. If two people in a relationship decide to flow with the tide of life, then the tendencies indicated in the composite chart will at some time have their effect. The one thing a composite chart does not show is the WILL of the individuals and how they may exert it. The matter of exercising free will is left entirely up to the individuals. The wise man rules his stars, the fool is ruled by them. Astrology forewarns, and being forewarned, one is thus forearmed to better cope with the struggles of life.

For every paragraph discussed in this analysis, realize that each planetary placement or aspect is one of you and your partner's particular astrological positions and that each position gives your relationship a particular tendency, the tendencies being elaborated upon in each paragraph. The horoscope shows tendencies only. It is a matter for you both to determine how any position will work itself out in your relationship. That will be determined by the use you make of your own WILLPOWER.

HOUSE POSITIONS OF PLANETS

The planets represent energies and cosmic forces that can be utilized in various ways. They are like the actors in a play. Houses represent the different spheres of life where these energies can be and are brought to bear, for better or for worse. If the planets are the actors in a play, then the houses represent the various settings in which the actors play out their roles (signs).

PLANETS AND PLANETARY ASPECTS

If the planets represent energies and cosmic forces that manifest in different ways, then the planetary aspects show how these energies and forces tend to act and react, one with another, if the will of the person is not brought into play to change them.

COMPOSITE PLANETARY ASPECTS

When working with midpoints, there is a nearer midpoint and a farther midpoint. When the corresponding planet in your natal chart is more than 150 degrees away from the corresponding planet in your partner's natal chart both the nearer and farther midpoints must be taken into consideration. If the two planets are in opposition aspect to each other, under this circumstance, then the interpretation of the aspect will be as if the planets were together in space, rather than opposite each other, thus their influence should be blended together with the interpretation reflecting this condition.

COMPOSITE PLANETS IN HOUSES

In the following section, if you see an interpretation consisting of the same planet in two houses, this is because when working with midpoints, there is a nearer midpoint and a farther midpoint. When the corresponding planet in your natal chart is more than 150 degrees away from the corresponding planet in your partner's natal chart both the nearer and farther midpoints must be taken into consideration. Since these two midpoints are opposite each other, the planet's influence can be in two houses, the near house and the far house, hence the need for two interpretations. Both interpretations can be valid.

Sun in 3rd house - You will have a strong ability to communicate, for you share many of the same ideas and opinions, and you will be able to speak openly with each other. There will be few barriers to mutual understanding, except perhaps at the emotional level. You will enjoy having good conversations with each other.

The greatest weakness of this position is that your relationship will probably function primarily on an intellectual or mental level. It is not likely to be a very profound emotional tie. Clearly, then, this position is much better for friendship than for a love affair. You will relate to each other by talking rather than by feelings. When an emotional situation arises, there is the danger that you will intellectualize it or try to figure it out instead of just living through it and learning from the experience. The knowledge gained by this kind of experience cannot be replaced by logical analysis. But this is a lesson that the two of you may have some difficulty in learning, because the 3rd house Sun inclines you to logical analysis.

There is nothing wrong with an intellectual relationship, but there are times when it is inappropriate. Fortunately, your strong commitment to communication will aid you in approaching the problems you may have to face together. Just be sure that you don't stop at the purely mental level. You should enjoy an unusually good mental rapport and be more able to talk to each other than many couples can.

Moon in 2nd house - This relationship will bring out the needs you both have for emotional and material security. In fact, you may have come together because of those needs. You will have a strong sense of shared values, which will help to reinforce you as a couple against the undependable and changeable outside world. Because of this shared feeling, your relationship will grow strong even when there are considerable difficulties between you. You will be reluctant to give up the emotional security granted by the Moon in this position, even when things get tense. But the need for security could keep you together even when that is not the best solution for either of you.

One minor problem that this placement can bring about is that your need for emotional security can lead to a compulsive gathering of physical objects. You may try to satisfy your need for emotional security through owning things together. In this case your relationship will come to be symbolized by great quantities of material possessions. Beyond a certain point, possessions can become a millstone around your necks that limits your freedom of movement. Particularly if this is a marital relationship, you might be trapped into staying together because of what you own rather than because your relationship is working well. Like everything else, possessions must be kept in their place.

Nevertheless, the security that this relationship can offer should be one of its strongest points and should help keep you together when the going gets tough.

Mercury in 3rd house - This position can be extremely valuable in a relationship, because it assures easy and complete communication between you. Many otherwise sound associations are weakened because two people cannot say the simple things that keep a relationship going smoothly. This should not be a problem for the two of you. In fact, you have a strong need to communicate with each other, and it is likely that you first came together because of some intellectual affinity.

Not only do the two of you have a strong need to exchange ideas and opinions, but you also like to be with others and exchange ideas with them. You have a great liking for all kinds of mental and intellectual interaction with your environment. You do not like to stay off by yourselves but prefer to get out and talk and have a good time.

The only thing you should be wary of is letting the cheerful and often superficial banter of Mercury replace the deeper, more significant communication that any successful relationship requires. Mercury works so easily on a light level that you may be reluctant to delve any deeper. If you can avoid intellectual and emotional superficiality, you should have an excellent mental and intellectual rapport with each other.

Venus in 4th house - The effects of Venus in the 4th house are felt in the most intimate and inward areas of your relationship. On the psychological level you have a great concern for beauty in your most personal surroundings, and this in turn is reflected in your desire to make your home or other property that you own together as tasteful, beautiful, and comfortable as possible. Even if you don't have much money, you will probably succeed in creating an elegant home.

If you do not own a home together, the effects of the 4th house Venus will be less evident. But the 4th house is an angular house, so any planet that is in it has greater importance than it would otherwise have. A 4th house Venus simply indicates that in this relationship the principles of love and beauty are strong and prominent, although they are expressed most clearly in your intimate personal lives rather than in the lives you share with the outside world. This placement is usually an excellent indication for an intimate love relationship.

Mars in 1st house - This position demands that this relationship be a complete expression of both of you. This should be the case with any relationship, but it is even more important in this instance. It would be best if you could find something that you both like to do together, and the more physically active the better. There is a lot of energy in your relationship that must be expended somehow.

If you can find a common purpose, all of your energy will be focused on that instead of on each other. You will be able to accomplish a tremendous amount of work together, and in the process you will enjoy each other. There is no way around the fact that your relationship demands activity.

Unfortunately, if you do not handle these energies properly, Mars can signify fighting and conflict. It is not that you necessarily dislike each other, although that could be the case, but that your relationship doesn't give any relevance to the matters that are really important to each of you individually. There are you, the other person, and your relationship, all of which seem to have very little in common.

Keeping this problem in mind, this can be an excellent placement for any relationship that is specifically aimed at accomplishing a job or task, such as a professional association.

Jupiter in 8th house - This position signifies that major transformations in life and joint property will be areas of growth. In this relationship you will never cease to grow and change. Both of you will experience continual transformation through your experience of being together. Even if you grow apart, as can happen to any couple, you will part without much difficulty, knowing that your relationship has been good, even if not permanent.

This placement of Jupiter may also have the effect of making you quite successful in your dealings with property and resources in general, so long as you work together.

If this is a marriage, you may receive bequests or other financial assistance from others. At any rate, you should have little trouble borrowing money jointly whenever you need it. In a sexual relationship, this placement helps to ensure that sex is a source of reinforcement for both of you, even if there are problems at times. This placement will neither make or break your relationship, but it can help smooth over bad times by making it easier to meet your material needs.

Jupiter in 2nd house - This is an excellent position for all matters relating to property and possessions within your relationship. It does not necessarily indicate that the two of you will be wealthy, but it does indicate that you will have enough of whatever you want. In other words, resources are not likely to be a source of insecurity with you.

The only problem to watch out for is that Jupiter here can make people excessively materialistic or wasteful, both individually and in a relationship. This can cause the two of you to sacrifice matters that are important to your happiness in order to gain wealth.

One of the fortunate attributes of this position is that making money and gaining property are not areas of anxiety, so you can feel detached from these issues and can express yourselves through material generosity to others.

There may be danger that you will be careless about money and unwise in its use. However, this will not happen because of unluckiness but because you like to take chances. If you take the time to stop and think, you will know what to do in a situation. Make caution and success in handling money more important than the excitement of gambling.

Saturn in 4th house - Saturn in this position designates an inner compatibility that makes living together very difficult. Not that it will be impossible, but this will be the area in which there are the greatest difficulties. Even when the influence of Saturn is under control, it will have effects. Your home life will be characterized by austerity; that is, you will keep your home very simple, uncluttered and neat. There is nothing wrong with this, as long as it is not an outward reflection of an inward coldness.

In any kind of relationship with Saturn in the 4th house, there will be a feeling of distance between you, as if you were unable to touch each other at some very deep inner level. If you are consciously experiencing problems, you will have to dig very deeply to find the answers. They are not superficial problems, and a superficial solution cannot deal with them. Both of you will have to get past your deep-seated inner fears in order to confide in your partner with complete trustfulness. For this reason, it is probably a good idea to get to know each other gradually. Do not be in a hurry. Under favorable conditions, Saturn can make a relationship quite enduring.

Uranus in 10th house - The purpose of your relationship may be to challenge and revolutionize the views and even the lives of the people around you. Such a relationship may also revolutionize your own lives as well. The 10th is the house of social status, overall life objectives (as they really are, not as you wish them to be), and your role in society. Uranus here means that these areas may take an unusual direction or that they will be a possible source of instability and disruption.

This placement of Uranus can signify that the two of you simply like to do things in your own highly individualistic style. On the other hand, your view of life may be one that others consider literally revolutionary. In the latter case, beware of stirring up unnecessary opposition to your views. You may feel that it is important to arouse some opposition, but make sure that what you do stir up is intentional. Uranus in the 10th can also produce sudden changes in your own social status, such as an abrupt and disastrous fall from grace, which can result from letting your activities get out of control. One thing is certain, however; this relationship must be allowed to do its own thing.

Neptune in 1st house - There is a great danger that the two of you don't understand what your relationship is all about. You each may have quite widely different views of your relationship, with neither of you aware of the difference. Or you may have a fairly clear idea about the direction you should take as a couple, but you have difficulty understanding where you are at a particular time.

Typical of the problems that Neptune induces is a situation that can occur in a love relationship. One of you thinks that everything is beautiful and ideal, and the world may agree, for a 1st house Neptune can deceive others as well as yourselves. But you will discover that something is radically wrong between you when you wake up one morning to find that the other person is gone, having been unhappy for months.

Another common Neptune pattern that applies here is that one of you sacrifices yourself to "save" the other from some problem. Or you both may offer yourselves in service to the world. This is usually the rankest form of self-delusion, because one or both of you is using this pattern as a device for working out your own hang-ups. People do not "save" each other in this manner.

Unfortunately there are endless possible sources of self-delusion. But a 1st house Neptune does signify that you must work for a realistic relationship and not let your ideals overwhelm your ability to see the truth. Yet at the same time you must not surrender your ideals.

Pluto in 10th house - There is a very powerful energy in this relationship that is strongly oriented to attaining some objective. The nature of the objective that you seek will depend upon the nature of your relationship, but in every case it will have to do with making changes in the world around you.

A 10th house Pluto means that your relationship will somehow heighten your ambitions as a couple. Other people will feel that the two of you are very powerful, even if separately you do not impress them that way. At the same time, your relationship will alter and transform your life direction and heighten your desire to achieve your objectives.

If the two of you handle the energies of this position well, it is a good indication that together you can achieve something of note. Perhaps you will gain power in business or politics, or perhaps you will simply become influential among the people around you. Or you may feel the effects most strongly between you, as this experience helps you to discover what you really want to do with your lives and to start doing something about it.

But there is some danger if the energy is not handled well. Pluto in the 10th house can be destructive, and its effect is to utterly ruin your reputations, and possibly some more fundamental aspect of your lives. Usually this happens because you have been ruthless in some way, either toward others or with each other. Pluto here can signify that you let no one stand in your way as you strive to get to where you want to go. But when you encounter a stronger person or a situation that you cannot control, havoc breaks loose.

The only way to deal with this is to control your ruthlessness. Keep in mind other people's needs and wants as the two of you pursue the goals and objectives you have set for yourselves. And treat each other with the same consideration.

MEANINGS OF COMPOSITE PLANETARY ASPECTS

Sun sextile Ascendant - This aspect indicates that the two of you enjoy social exchange with others. You are not a couple that likes to retire by yourselves and avoid others. In fact, you are more likely than most to seek out friends who become a very important part of your relationship with each other.

Not only do you like to be with friends, but also it is very important to both of you to have opportunities to talk with people and exchange ideas and communication. In a similar way, the two of you place great importance on communication between yourselves.

You will probably be good friends. If this is a sexual relationship, you may be lovers, but you will be friends as well. This is very important in a relationship between the sexes and is not always achieved.

You are likely to experience a certain restlessness in your relationship, but not a difficult kind. It is simply that the two of you like to seek out new experiences and new opportunities for doing things together. This leads you to range far and wide, either literally through travel or figuratively through pursuing a curiosity together. As a consequence, the two of you are likely to have more varied experiences than many couples have. The successful search for variety is a keynote of your relationship.

Mercury sextile Ascendant - This aspect is a sign that the two of you are likely to get around, physically and/or mentally. Mercury is the planet of travel, thus travel is probably heavily emphasized in your relationship. The point must be made, however, that travel is not necessarily limited to its literal meaning. It can also mean mental journeys, encounters with new ideas and ways of thinking.

The two of you exhibit a restlessness of thought that makes it very unlikely that you will settle into any rigid mental patterns. At the same time, however, there is a danger that your restlessness will make it difficult to settle down into a stable relationship. Fortunately, with this aspect, restlessness is not likely to weaken your relationship, only to make it less predictable.

The two of you have very strong ideas about what you want in your relationship, and you like to talk about these ideas. Because you are very clear about what you want, you are able to plan out the best course of action for attaining it.

Friends are important to both of you, but they must be stimulating people. You do not like to have dull people around. You enjoy lively banter with others because it stimulates your own thinking process. It appeals to your need for new experiences, particularly on the intellectual level.

In a personal relationship, this aspect may emphasize intellectual exchange of ideas at the expense of intimate emotional communication.

Try not to intellectualize your feelings; instead, allow yourselves to experience your feelings simply as feelings.

Otherwise, communication between you is better than average, and this aspect will help considerably in any kind of relationship.

Saturn trine Ascendant - This aspect will have a very stabilizing effect on a good relationship, but an inhibiting effect on one that is not so good. When Saturn's energies operate in a positive manner, as is often the case with this aspect, they promote stability and help keep the relationship on an even keel. This aspect prevents wide swings from extreme happiness to extreme sadness or from very positive to very negative feelings. But it does so at the cost of a certain spontaneity and exuberance. A Saturnine relationship, even a good one, is more sober than most, more concerned about practical realities and less about ideals and romantic fantasies.

On the positive side, the two of you are able to make each other function in a more regular manner. You give each other a sense of discipline. At its best, this aspect makes it possible for the two of you to be your honest selves with each other, but at the same time to exercise restraint. You are not inclined to act in a completely free and loose manner when you are together.

If the energy of this aspect operates negatively, however, then each of you may be a serious obstacle to the other's self-expression. Even worse, you may find yourselves locked into such rigid attitudes about each other that it is difficult to make changes in your relationship. At the same time, these energies may cause you both to become more rigid in your attitudes to the world around you.

Which effect you are likely to experience depends in part on your willingness to deal with each other openly and honestly.

Uranus sextile Ascendant - Your relationship will be unique in many ways. It will cause the two of you to think about life in new ways that you would never have thought of until you met each other. You will not experience this as a disruptive change, however. Instead, it will be like a fresh breeze blowing through your minds and your lives, clearing away all your old and outworn attitudes and ideas.

One result of this change is that you will see elements of the world around you that you have never seen before, and this will enable you to enlarge your capacity to deal with life in appropriate ways. This aspect is quite disastrous to old habits in a relationship, but you can do very well without those old habits.

One likely change will be in the company you keep. Both of you will want increasingly to be around people who embody the new ways you have found of dealing with life. The only point you must keep in mind is that any action of Uranus makes it difficult to hold on to old and cherished, but largely unconscious attachments, things that you want to retain although they have no real purpose in your lives. Uranus is likely to produce circumstances that make it impossible to hold on to them. If you can let go gracefully, you will experience the effects of this aspect as totally refreshing and stimulating. If letting go is hard, the two of you may find your relationship somewhat disruptive and upsetting.

Neptune conjunct Ascendant - This aspect introduces the element of idealism. The question is, what kind of idealism and how does it affect your ability to see the truth? At its highest, this aspect indicates that there is a strong spiritual bond between you. An invisible thread links the two of you together, so that without having to say very much, you each can feel what the other is thinking. You would be willing to do almost anything for each other. You feel as if you have been truly united into one being, which is ultimately the highest form of love.

In such an idealistic relationship, however, the emphasis is on a spiritual bond. In a relationship that might otherwise be sexual, this aspect may give you such a strong concern for the spiritual that you do not wish to "contaminate" it with physical contact, or at least that is how it appears to you. Therefore, this aspect can be an indication of a platonic relationship.

Unfortunately, such an ideal bond is not usually realized. More commonly this aspect indicates a relationship in which there is an unusual amount of illusion and self-deception. The beautiful selflessness of the ideal is corrupted into self-martyrdom, which is often used as a means of controlling the other.

Usually the problem is that one of the partners is not relating to the other as a real human being. Instead, you create a mental ideal, which you force the other person to fit, whether or not it is appropriate. But when the other person's real identity emerges, you will experience great disappointment. This theme is repeated over and over again, wherever Neptune is strong. You must stop searching for an ideal and be willing to appreciate your partner as they actually are. Only then can you get the best out of your relationship. And by so doing you may be able to experience the higher manifestation of this aspect.

Pluto sextile Ascendant - Your relationship will cause you both to analyze yourselves in depth and to analyze the nature of your relationship. Taking very little for granted, you constantly seek ways to change and improve yourselves as individuals and as a couple. But the analysis that you undergo will not be a superficial intellectual exercise. It will go on in your hearts as well as your minds. And the changes that take place in both of you will affect all levels of your being.

This will not be a negative process. Elements of your personalities will pass away, but the transformation will be experienced as good and necessary, following naturally in the course of events. This is transformation through evolution rather than revolution. It will be very deep, very powerful, and very useful to both of you.

One consequence of this aspect is that your hopes for life will probably be altered. Your earlier goals were based on what you were then. Because your relationship changes you, it will change what you seek as well.

When the two of you talk, you discuss your serious concerns, not light subjects. Others may consider you excessively serious, but this is because you recognize the importance of what is happening in your relationship, and you do not want to waste time with trivia. And this is right, at least for the two of you. Your relationship will bring about much growth in both your lives.

Sun conjunct Mercury - There will be a great deal of mental activity in your relationship. This aspect is good for verbal communication between you, but it does not especially favor nonverbal, emotional forms of communication. Do not make the mistake of thinking that your ability to talk means that all channels of communication between you are open. They may or may not be. Feelings and emotions are not readily reduced to the forms of communication ruled by Mercury. You both should be wary of the tendency to intellectualize your emotions rather than deal with them at the gut level.

But your verbal communication should be excellent. You have an unusual similarity of thinking, or at least a better than average ability to understand each other's thinking.

Mercury is a planet of travel, not always in the literal sense of the word, but in the metaphorical sense; that is, you like to be continually exposed to new ideas and experiences together. To others this may appear to be restlessness, but it is really only curiosity aroused by being together.

One of the most positive attributes of this aspect is the ability to be detached from what you are discussing. Because of this detachment you may even be able to talk about your relationship and arrive at understandings that will help you both to get more out of it. But in the process, do not neglect the emotional sides of the issues.

Sun sextile Saturn - This aspect gives a sober and rather restrained tone to your relationship, but at the same time makes it stable. Other relationships may be more flamboyant and uninhibited, but with this aspect, yours will probably outlast them, assuming there is a basic attraction between your personalities.

Your relationship should give your life a sense of stability and positive structure, as well as knowledge of where you stand with each other. If either of you is inclined to be impulsive or to act rashly, this aspect indicates that you will have a positive restraining effect upon each other. It will teach you a lot about yourselves and will have a great effect on the way you think about things. But in this strength there is a possible danger. With this aspect you can get so set in a rigid thought pattern that as a couple you do not grow at all. Don't allow the structuring tendencies of Saturn to become rigid. If you can maintain some degree of flexibility, your relationship should work out quite positively, even though it will be comparatively quiet and restrained.

Sun trine Uranus - This aspect means that you will be strengthened by seeking out new paths of self-expression together. Do not allow your relationship to fall into conventional patterns; instead, explore new ideas, new horizons. If you can, you should travel to new places to find experiences together that would not be possible outside your relationship.

If this is a love partnership, you should keep yourselves open to friendships with others. Narrow conceptions of fidelity or possessiveness should not prevent you from having valid friendships outside of your relationship. Of course, this is not a license to be dishonest or immoral with each other.

On the contrary, this aspect calls for even higher standards of honesty. You must be honest not only with each other but with yourselves at all times. In this way, as you come to each new experience, you will be able to deal with it openly, not from a fearful or narrow position. Be assured that your relationship will expose you to new areas of life with each other and within yourselves.

Sun sextile Neptune - Your relationship tends to be very idealized. In some ways it is best suited to friendship, because this aspect tends to make a love relationship platonic. But if both of you are on a spiritual path, this aspect will reinforce your efforts to be together.

You will have very high ideals about what you should be to each other. Since you will be caught up in this ideal, you may be reluctant to deal with the ordinary, mundane aspects of life. Others may see your relationship as impossible or at least impractical, but that won't disturb you particularly. You will go right on, seemingly with your heads in the clouds. Obviously, this can be carried too far if you are not careful. You have to deal with the real world one way or another. Also you must learn to communicate with each other about all areas of your relationship, not just the ideal parts.

In the long run, this is not a particularly difficult aspect to deal with. The idealism it signifies can make a relationship quite beautiful. With this aspect it is not so much a matter of suppressing idealism that is needed but of learning to deal with reality.

Sun trine Pluto - This is a sign of an emotionally intense relationship that will transform you both for the better if you learn to move with its flow. Your overall life attitudes and philosophy will be very much affected by the emotional and psychological changes brought about by your relationship. The effect on both of you will be as profound as could be achieved through any kind of therapy or psychological analysis. Pluto rules psychological transformations, and you can be sure of profound changes wherever Pluto is involved.

Not only will your relationship change you inwardly, it will also have a visible effect on your personalities and the way you express yourselves to others. This is not an extremely difficult aspect to deal with, but if you are seeking a casual, light-hearted relationship, it would not be good. Because of Pluto, this will be a significant partnership and one that is not light in tone, although it has the potential to be quite creative.

In a sexual relationship, the effect of Pluto is to increase the emotional intensity as well as the emphasis on sex. The interest in sex will not be just for physical reasons, but also for the profound emotional effects that go with it. You both feel that sexual contact is an experience that affects you at all levels of your being and enables you to transcend ordinary reality. This attitude makes sex much more important to the two of you than it would be to others.

Moon sextile Venus - This aspect indicates warm and positive emotions between you. It is a good aspect for friendship and love in any kind of relationship. Furthermore, it indicates that you communicate your affections to each other easily and that you are emotionally compatible in general.

The effects of this aspect are very quiet and easy. It will not produce a sudden mad, passionate attraction between the two of you, but rather a relaxed feeling of affection. This kind of energy is better for a long-term relationship than for a short-term, possibly stormy affair.

In a love relationship, you will find that you are friends and lovers simultaneously. Friends with this aspect will have an affection for each other that is deeper than usual in a friendship.

In a marriage this aspect indicates that you want children and probably will have them. This aspect signifies fertility and motherhood. It is the sign of the earth mother. Love is strongly linked to parenthood with this aspect.

On the whole, this is one of the most beneficial aspects in a composite chart, although its effects are rather quiet.

Moon conjunct Jupiter - This aspect indicates that the two of you feel good when you are together. You feel warm toward each other, and you can express your feelings easily and with enthusiasm. If one of you is sad or depressed, the other person will cheer you up.

At the same time, you respect each other's emotions. You feel quite protective of your partner and try to keep them from being emotionally hurt by others. It may even get to the point of mothering each other; however, this will be experienced as supportive rather than oppressive. In fact, the effects of this aspect are quite far removed from the kind of mothering that may be better described as smothering, for you have a great deal of respect for each other's freedom and individual rights.

When disputes do arise, you will try to deal with them in a very high-minded manner, not allowing yourselves to be petty or small. You will discuss the issues openly and try to resolve them in a way that is fair to both of you.

This aspect is often an indication that the two of you will be quite prosperous in a material way if you have the kind of relationship in which you own possessions in common.

Mercury sextile Saturn - This aspect makes you cautious in planning for the future and in approaching various areas of everyday life, and this can help ensure your success. When the two of you go about a task, you will succeed, not through blind luck but through careful and methodical planning. You leave nothing to chance, so you get very few unpleasant surprises. But be careful that being cautious does not also eliminate the possibility of pleasant surprises. Remain open to new experiences while you retain your carefulness.

At first, most relationships have to overcome some barriers to mutual understanding and arrive at a common ground of opinion. After that phase you will find that your thoughts and feelings about each other will remain constant and grow further along the lines you have established. That can be either bad or good, of course, depending on what kinds of feelings you have established in the beginning. With this aspect, if you get off to a bad start it will be difficult to change your point of view. But if the start is good, your relationship will continue that way.

Mercury trine Uranus - This aspect promises an intellectually alive relationship that will have a strong effect upon both of you in your ways of looking at the world. One of the main purposes of your relationship is to cause you to look out at the world from new points of view and with less rigid preconceptions. While this aspect does not in itself indicate whether your relationship will be a long-term one, it does indicate that you both will derive something of value from it. It is always good to have one's point of view challenged, and the challenge this aspect offers will not wipe you out mentally but will be a pleasant mental excitement.

This aspect can be useful in solving problems. Instead of trying the old familiar tried-and-true methods of problem-solving, which often do not work, you will find new methods that might be quite a bit more successful, especially because they relate to your individual needs. At any rate, you can expect that your relationship will be mentally stimulating.

Mercury sextile Neptune - This aspect indicates that the two of you are seeking some intellectual or mental ideal within your relationship. At its best this aspect can bring about instantaneous nonverbal communication between you, a direct intuitive understanding of each other's mind. At its least productive, this aspect can mean that one or both of you are over-idealizing your relationship rather than experiencing it as a reality. Even though the reality may not be that bad in itself, it is not taken for what it is.

However, this is not a particularly difficult aspect to handle; even in the most overly idealized fantasy, there is likely to be enough real communication between you to prevent crushing disappointment when the fantasy vanishes.

Idealism will always be a strong element in your relationship, even if you keep your feet on the ground about most things. There is nothing wrong with your idealism, because sometimes just believing in an ideal can help make it happen. This is a positive result that you can look forward to with this aspect.

Mercury trine Pluto - This aspect can grant the two of you a deep and subtle understanding of what your relationship is about, which can be very useful. Your relationship will not flounder because of a lack of insight, although it could falter if you don't acknowledge your insight. This aspect grants understanding even of the hidden psychological forces that are normally not accessible to people involved with each other.

Your relationship will strongly affect your way of expressing yourselves to others as well as your ways of self-understanding. You will encounter new aspects of your own inner lives that you were not aware of, and you will be enriched by these understandings if you truly acknowledge them and do not resist them.

The awakened awareness that should come about through this aspect will also stimulate your interest in exploring new dimensions of the world around you, as well as the world within. And this interest will greatly enlarge your views of the world.

Venus trine Jupiter - This aspect is one of the aspects that really helps to make a relationship successful, particularly a personal one. In fact, a professional association is very likely to become personal as well. This aspect is a strong indication of a warm, affectionate feeling between you.

In particular, your relationship will have a strong idealistic force that will make you optimistic about yourselves and each other. And this optimism will help bring about the ideal state of affairs that you expect. You will find that your relationship will help both of you grow as individuals, for it continually brings out your best qualities. There is a feeling of ease and peacefulness with this aspect. Neither of you seems to make unreasonable demands upon the other, but that can sometimes present another problem. If one of you must make some really important changes, the other may be reluctant to raise the issue for fear of disturbing the peaceful atmosphere.

Nevertheless, yours is a relationship in which you will feel that you can relax and be yourself with your partner. Your relationship ought to be successful and rewarding for both of you, whatever the reasons for your coming together.

Mars square Saturn - This aspect indicates that the two of you are working at cross purposes. At its worst, this aspect will make you get in each other's way to such an insufferable degree that you cannot get along at all. At best, there will be friction because one of you is always in a different state of mind from the other. But this aspect does not often give rise to open warfare. Usually it produces negative feelings that seethe below the surface without ever coming out into the open. Occasionally your feelings will go past the boiling point, however, and there will be a big explosion of angry words between you.

With this aspect, you obviously have work to do. First of all, you must open the channels of communication between you. You will tend to hide your anger even when it is not good to do so. Learn to let it out and get it over with. It is better to blow off steam more often and less intensely than to hold back your anger for a long time. Say exactly what is on your mind and try not to express irritation in little cutting remarks.

In a sexual relationship, this aspect often creates differences of timing. One of you will always be in a different mood from the other, and both of you will insist on what you want when you want it. Obviously someone has to give, and that will be difficult in this case. But if you each can decide, at least occasionally, to give in without a fuss, it will improve your relationship immeasurably.

Mars square Uranus - A personal relationship with this aspect is most likely to be successful if you have few expectations for it, because if it does not live up to what you expect, you may consider it a failure. With this aspect the two of you are especially impatient of objectives that "must" be attained. Your relationship will take its own course, and expectations will not rest easily on it.

This is not an especially good aspect if you are planning to be married or hope to establish some other type of permanent bond. Nor is it very good for a business relationship, for example, in which there are definite objectives to be gained. Such a relationship is not impossible, but you must allow a great deal of room for the unexpected and for sudden change. The more you restrict your relationship, the more likely it is to cause problems. Almost certainly there is something here that goes against social convention. If that fact restricts either of you, it will be even more difficult.

On the positive side, one thing is certain. If you are looking for a stimulating relationship that will bring something new into your world, this is it. Just give yourselves room to move.

Mars square Pluto - Ego forces run high between you, because something about your interaction makes you constantly challenge each other. That also means that you each invest a great deal of energy in being right at the other's expense. Consequently this aspect can create the most intense competition between two people, even to the extent of both physical and psychological battles. When the energies of this aspect operate unconsciously within a relationship, they can lead to considerable violence. Obviously it is very important to be conscious of them.

The two of you have very different aims in life, and if you choose to get in each other's way, you will certainly succeed in doing so. You will be able to get along with each other only by recognizing that there is plenty of room in the world for each of you to do what you want. Not only is there plenty of room in the world, but if you are willing you can also find room within your relationship for your separate aims. But both of you must be willing to make an effort, or you can't complain when your relationship blows up in your faces. This aspect does not make for getting along easily and spontaneously; you have to make it happen.

Saturn opposite Uranus - This aspect implies a state of tension arising from the fact that one of you feels that the other puts a complete clamp on his or her style, while the restrictive partner experiences the first one as a disruptive force. Add to this your great difficulty in communicating with each other, so that pressures are not released, and you have an explosive situation. You will probably find it difficult even to relax with each other.

With this aspect, if your relationship does get off the ground, there is still the critical problem of tension building up rather than being let off gradually. This problem causes many such relationships to end suddenly and without warning. It is clearly a situation in which the only solution is to learn to let off steam gradually. Talk frequently about what is going on between you and try to be as honest as possible. Your principle aim should be to state the truth accurately, not to score points over each other. This way you will be able to let out the energy and release the tension before it gets critical. Or your relationship may not be very happy or long-lasting.

Saturn trine Neptune - This aspect produces austerity of self-expression, self-denial, and even asceticism. If this aspect is prominent in your chart, it is unlikely that the two of you have formed a relationship purely for pleasure. More likely you have come together with some higher purpose in mind, something involving discipline and working toward an ideal. You may even have come together to pursue a spiritual purpose. But even if the task is of a business or professional nature, the two of you will work very hard to attain your purpose and will indulge yourselves very little. Work and discipline themselves may be the ideal toward which you strive.

Obviously this style would not usually be found in a love relationship, except in an idealized platonic one. But the self-denial and discipline that are characteristic of this aspect will be a spontaneous self-expression, not an imposed condition that you are unwilling to put up with.

Saturn opposite Pluto - If this aspect is strongly placed in your chart, it can create a great deal of tension between the two of you, which will be expressed as rather explosive outbursts of feeling and passion. The problem is that the rigidity of Saturn encounters the irresistible transforming power of Pluto. An analogy can be found in the theory of continental drift, in which the continental land masses come together almost imperceptibly, but the accumulated pressure throws up mountains and produces earthquakes of terrifying violence. A relationship in which this aspect is strong is like that. Both of you are constantly changing, slowly, but powerfully, but you operate in such a way that it is difficult to let the changes happen. The result is that they happen all at once in a cataclysmic way rather than expressing themselves gradually.

When an emotional eruption occurs, it is because one of you has lost all hope of being able to deal with the other and bring about any kind of constructive change. Finally, when the pressure gets too great, you blow up, not to change your partner but to let off the powerful feelings stored up inside you.

If either of you is rigid, you must learn not to be. Don't allow your beliefs and ideas to persist unchanged. Do not wait until the pressure is so great that you can't handle the matter easily.

Neptune conjunct South Node - This aspect can signify an intensely spiritual union, a union based completely on illusion, or various combinations of these two extremes. Disillusionment is a very serious danger, and it can cause you to withdraw from each other psychologically without actually breaking off your relationship. Be extremely careful to sort out the facts from the illusions in your relationship, and do not make any permanent commitment until you are sure of the facts based on long experience with each other. You must try to detach yourselves and be very realistic in dealing with each other.

The astrological interpretations in this report have been formulated with the assumption that both peoples' birth dates, times, and places are accurately given. This includes whether the birth times were daylight savings time or standard time. Even a difference of one hour in birth time can invalidate much of the interpretation given in this report.

By no means is this astrological analysis of your relationship complete. Obviously, your relationship is far more complex than what a few pages of writing can depict. Hopefully, this short description of your relationship and its inner character will lead you on your way to really discovering what your relationship is and what it can become.
